Connecting Burkina Faso - Working together for sustainable development

Are you interested in discovering new markets? The Centre for the Promotion of Imports from developing countries (CBI) connects you with reliable, high-quality suppliers equipped to do business with a European partner. Within the Natural Ingredients project in Burkina Faso, with a special focus on Moringa, we build and showcase sustainable Business Models in the Moringa sector. We believe that this leads to restoration of degraded land, creates economic opportunities and ensures local food security. We do this through the promotion of export of Moringa and potential other exportable products to regional and EU markets.

Meet suppliers from Burkina Faso

Due to the unique qualities of Moringa, and the essential role it plays in fighting soil degradation, the Moringa market is emerging fast. Burkina Faso offers numerous natural ingredients products, including Moringa, that appeal to the European market. Each of these companies in the CBI project brings unique expertise, knowledge, and experience to the project. Together they work towards promoting sustainable agriculture practices and developing value chains in Burkina Faso. All participants are focused on sustainability and social commitment and offer a diversified portfolio of quality.

About CBI

CBI connects Small and Medium-sized Enterprises (SMEs) in emerging markets with the European market, in order to contribute to sustainable and inclusive economic growth. We develop the export-related knowledge and skills of entrepreneurs in developing countries and guide the exporters to enter the European market. CBI is part of the Netherlands Enterprise Agency and is mainly funded by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands.

In this context, CBI executes this project to support 7 SMEs from Burkina Faso, between 2021 and 2026, in becoming (more) competitive on the regional and European market.

Lawatan Permaculture Centre

The Farm exists since 2006 previously under the name of Bethel Bethesda, it was formalized in 2012 and modified in 2019 under the name of Permaculture Center Lawatan after a training of the promoter on permaculture with the American NGO Peace Bridge International and long internships at the Permaculture Institute of Ghana.

We produce according to the principles of permaculture, that is to say with deep respect for life and the earth.

Our 34 ha area is not only used for farming but is also a natural protection area where fauna, flora, insects and micro-organisms can develop freely. The local population is sensitized not to cut wood there. This is called assisted natural regeneration and allows conservation of biodiversity. For the moment 04 ha are under cultivation, in the form of agroforestry where trees and plants are cultivated on the same plot, and a combination of crops, as in the image opposite.

Songtaab Yalgre (ASY) Association

ASY is a network of women's organizations governed in 20 October 2015 and recognized under the name "ASSOCIATION SONGTAAB-YALGRE (ASY)". It was created on October 23, 1998, in Burkina Faso, by a great lady, the late Mrs. OUEDRAOGO Marceline who had an ambition, that of improving the living conditions of women in rural and peri-urban areas through the valorization of local products, hence the name Songtaab Yalgre which means in localmooré language "to help each other widely".

Started with about thirty women, ASY now has more than 1500 members organized around 11 cooperatives and spread over 5 regions of Burkina Faso (Centre, Centre West, Central Plateau, North and High Basins). The association has a head office located in the Gounghin district of Ouagadougou, a KARIBIO production center located in Rimkiéta and a production site in Leguéma in the Hauts Bassins region.

Songtaab Yalgre's main objective is to improve the living conditions of women, youth and vulnerable groups and to promote equal rights in Burkina. Its vision by 2030 is to support more than 10,000 women and youth in rural and urban areas to make them true actors of development and entrepreneurship.
